

Bigrock E-News

December 16, 2011

Status Report

---

Holiday Greetings!

It's hard to believe, but it has been over three weeks since our first snowmaking session to get ready for the 2011-2012 season. Click here to see the video (and be sure to subscribe to our YouTube channel).

Between then and now, to say that the weather has been uncooperative would be a massive understatement. We have seen a whopping 10-12" of natural snowfall on Mars Hill Mountain. The opportunities to make snow have been few, and we have taken advantage of every one of them -- including a 36-hour stint last weekend. The Bunny Slope and the new terrain park currently have a base depth of 6-18" but the area around the top of the SouthStar Triple Chair is virtually uncovered.

Yikes! It has been a gloomy time around here, and we know that you are as stoked as we are to hit the slopes.

Alas, there is GOOD NEWS: tonight's forecasted low temp is in the single digits! And, tomorrow we will see the first sub-20F high temp of the season! The conditions look good for a solid week of snowmaking -- and we will be making snow around the clock!

Bigrock will open for the season on Friday, December 23 at 9:00 a.m. and we will work tirelessly all season long to deliver the superb snow experience you have come to expect!

THINK SNOW!

All the best,

Mark Shea
Marketing/SnowSchool Director
